How I did it?

Earlier, in 8th I started preparing for NTSE which persuaded me to go into one of the best IIT's. My Family, especially my grandparents sacrificed a lot for my success. My Chemistry was a bit weak especially Inorganic Chemistry, I couldn't mug up a lot. I started my preparation in 10th Vacation (early 11th). I studied Jini Resonance my teachers guided me not just initially but till the end. One of my friend, older than me by 1 year praised a lot about your tests which helped me to make a prompt decision. Regular hardwork, full concentration in classes and regular homework are the key to success. FIITJEE test were quite difficult and realistic because you can't recreate the atmosphere but you can harden a test. It helped to build my concepts and also learn new concepts and gave me a very good idea about the competition present out there.
